

Where to buy wholesale pick and mix

From the sweeties.net wiki

Our trade section at sweeties.net sells wholesale pick and mix to shops, cafes and event businesses. Every sweet from our pick and mix comes in a 3 kg bulk bag, ready to tip into your tubs.

How trade works

- Bulk bags. Every sweet in our range is available in 3 kg bags.
- Prices without VAT. Trade prices are shown without VAT. Sweets and equipment are standard rated, so VAT at 20 per cent is added at checkout and shown on your invoice.
- Trade accounts. Tell us about your business and we will set up a trade account for invoices and repeat orders.
- Equipment. Tray selectors, a freestanding stand, lidded tubs, scoops, tongs, bags, tub labels and a counter scale: see where to buy a pick and mix stand

For smaller amounts for home or a party, you can buy by the 100 g in our shop instead: see where to buy sweets by the kilo

VAT on sweets

HMRC's food and VAT notice lists chocolates, sweets and candies among standard rated confectionery, along with other sweetened prepared food normally eaten with the fingers. That is why sweets carry VAT at the standard rate, and why our trade prices are shown before it.

Allergens, from bag to tub

Each bulk bag carries the same ingredients and allergen information as the sweet in our shop, so it can go straight onto your tub labels. That matters, because pick and mix is loose food: a business selling loose food must give allergen information for every item that contains any of the 14 allergens, either in writing or verbally, with a clearly visible notice telling customers how to get it: see pick and mix and allergies and the 14 allergens explained for sweets

Shared scoops can carry allergens from one tub to another, so keep a scoop for each tub: see the pick and mix hygiene debate

Displaying it

Sweets can be displayed in glass jars as well as tubs, and our trade section sells traditional glass sweet jars with lids: see where to buy sweet jars
